

“PERFECTLY TIMED FOR SUMMER”
“A BREATH OF FRESH AIR”
—Daily Herald

EUGENE O'NEILL'S AH, WILDERNESS!
Directed by STEVE SCOTT

NOW THROUGH JULY 23
GOODMAN THEATRE

This is a past event.

Search

READER

Tweet Like 0 +1 0 GUIDE | AGENDA | EVENTS | SPACE | TONY ADLER | JUSTIN HAYFORD | STEVE HEISLER | DEANNA ISAACS | AIMEE LEVITT

Baal

When: May 18–19 and Thursdays–Sundays. Continues through June 20 2010

Phone: 773–680–0826

Price: $15–$25

tutato.com

Bertolt Brecht's first full-length play is the raw, sprawling chronicle of a womanizing, binge-drinking young poet whose fame derives as much from his wanton lifestyle as from his art. Written in 1918, when Brecht was a 20-year-old university student, Baal explores the primal link between creation and destruction embodied in the title character, named for a pagan god. With the help of a first-rate cast, Keith Parham's expressionistic lighting, and Josh Schmidt's fine folk-rock settings of Brecht poems, TUTA Theatre artistic director Zeljko Djukic creates a vivid, dreamlike work of stage poetry. --Albert Williams

Chopin Theatre

1543 W. Division St. UKRAINIAN VILLAGE/EAST VILLAGE

773-769-3832

chopintheatre.com

(based on 18 user reviews)

Theater & Performance, Closing (Theater and Galleries), Recommended, The Short List (Theater)